welcome

To Caring Hearts...and Giraffes!

Spring is the season of rebirth. At St. Luke's Foundation, our faith continues to be renewed by the kind and generous spirit of our friends and supporters.

A million-dollar, multigenerational gift for the expansion of the St. Luke's Heart & Vascular Center came from the estates of John and Alice Nyquist and their daughter, Sarah Nyquist, to help us meet the growing demand for specialized cardiovascular services.

Gifts to St. Luke's come in all sizes and shapes. Eleven-year-old Ivy Maybanks used GoFundMe to make sure kids hospitalized at St. Luke's get a new friend—a cuddly stuffed giraffe named Georgia—to help them feel safe and loved.

Both of these gifts go to the core of what UnityPoint Health - Cedar Rapids is all about. Quality care that leads the way in our community and compassionate care that exceeds expectations. Both are delivered by enthusiastic team members dedicated to the well-being of every single person we serve.

With gratitude for all you do,

Casey Greene

the right place

FOR HEART CARE

Last April, Dr. Keith Krewer, retired physician, and a member of St. Luke's Foundation board, saw a presentation on the $25 million expansion of UnityPoint Health - Cedar Rapids cardiovascular services. He talked to his wife, Cheryl, about supporting the campaign, and she agreed it was the right thing to do.

"The next day I had a heart attack," says Keith. "I experienced everything from the ER to the cath lab, where I had a stent placed, followed by three months of cardiac rehab. Every step reinforced my belief that giving back to St. Luke's was the right decision."

Heart disease is the number one cause of death in the U.S. today. With the population growing in Eastern Iowa, particularly among people 65 and up, the demand for St. Luke's outpatient cardiovascular services is expected to increase by 20 percent over the next decade.

Phase 1 of the Heart & Vascular Center expansion added a second electrophysiology area to correct issues with the heart's rhythm. Phases 2 and 3 will expand St. Luke's capacity to perform vascular procedures; interventional radiology techniques for unblocking vessels and dissolving clots; and advanced, minimally invasive procedures to treat problems with the heart's structure, including revolutionary Transcatheter Aortic Valve Replacement (TAVR). St. Luke's introduced TAVR to the Cedar Rapids community in 2016, and is the only TAVR-certified hospital in Iowa.

As part of the expansion, Cardiac and Pulmonary Rehab moved to its new home in PCI Medical Pavilion 1. Nurse Manager Julie Peterson, RN, explains, "The new space is working well. The cardiologists and cardiac surgeons are in the same building, patients can come to one location for doctor appointments and rehab. Whether you've had a heart attack, heart surgery or other cardiovascular event, our goal is to help you recover your health and your confidence."

Keith Krewer credits St. Luke's Cardiac and Pulmonary Rehab with helping him return to his active lifestyle. He adds, "If I had my druthers, I'd rather not have a heart attack, but I did, and I was in the right place and in the right hands. We're fortunate to have an outstanding cardiovascular care system here at St. Luke's. Cheryl and I want St. Luke's Heart & Vascular Center to continue to be at the top of its game for a long time to come."

You can help build healthier futures for heart and vascular patients in our community when you support St. Luke's Heart Expansion Campaign. For more information, call St. Luke's Foundation at (319) 369-7716.

NYQUIST FAMILY MAKES $1 MILLION GIFT

UnityPoint Health - St. Luke's Foundation is proud to announce a gift of $1 million from the Sarah Nyquist Trust. Sarah's parents, John and Alice Nyquist, were longtime friends and supporters of St. Luke's Hospital. John, who passed away in 2010, served on the hospital board for many years and Alice, who passed in 2012, was a 60-year member of St. Luke's Auxiliary. Sarah Nyquist died in 2022.

Alice's nephew, G. Richard Johnson, says, "St. Luke's has always been the hospital of choice in our family and John and Alice in particular were very strong supporters.

St. Luke's was one of their passions and Sarah's estate is honoring that."

The $1 million gift will go to the expansion of St. Luke's Heart & Vascular Center. Johnson adds, "Heart disease runs in many families, including ours. John and Alice would be very proud to know that St. Luke's Heart & Vascular Center, which has helped members of their own family, will benefit families in the Cedar Rapids community for generations to come."

HELPING LITTLE KIDS LIKE HER not be alone

Ivy Maybanks has a severe form of asthma. She spent her seventh birthday in St. Luke's Hospital after she woke up unable to breathe. "I didn't know if I was going to make it," Ivy recalls. She also remembers the kindness of her care team, who decorated her room and gave her a birthday cake and presents.

Within a year, Ivy was back at St. Luke's ER, followed by a LifeGuard Air Ambulance ride to the University of Iowa. This time Ivy got a new friend—a stuffed giraffe in a UnityPoint Health T-shirt—to make her trip a little easier. She named her new pal Georgia.

Since then, Ivy has developed rare, excruciating headaches that have landed her back in the hospital multiple times. Through it all, Ivy, now 12 years old, has had Georgia at her side.

"I always take Georgia with me," explains Ivy. "They take really good care of me at St. Luke's, but the headaches are really awful. And when you're a kid who is sad and confused in the hospital, a little friend to snuggle is the best."

Soon Ivy began to wonder if there were kids in the hospital who did not have their own stuffed animal to hug and love. "Ivy is a kind, sensitive person," says her mom Genie. "When she came up with the idea to help children at St. Luke's, I told her she could open a GoFundMe page."

Their goal was to raise enough money to purchase 100 "Georgia giraffes." The page generated more than that, and with additional support from Theisen's of Cedar Rapids, Ivy donated more than 400 giraffes to St. Luke's.

Jenny Haverly, RN, supervisor of St. Luke's Children's Center, says when a child one year old or up is admitted to St. Luke's, a giraffe is placed on their bed. "It's one of the first things they see when they enter their room. It also gives them something to focus on and cuddle with if we have to do an IV start or a blood draw."

Ivy wrote a little note that's tied around each giraffe's neck. "It explains how Georgia helped her and how Ivy is helping others," says Jenny. "Now another patient has donated board games to us. He says getting his giraffe inspired him to want to give back, too."

Ivy, who plans to raise more money for St. Luke's in the future, adds, "I can't imagine going to the hospital without Georgia. The people who helped me with funding the giraffes helped little kids like me not be alone in this."

From bake sales and GoFundMe pages to walks and bike rides, you can enrich patients' lives and enhance care at UnityPoint Health - Cedar Rapids. Call St. Luke's Foundation at (319) 369-7716 for ideas on how you can make a difference.

Belle Edwards was just 10 days old when she and her mom boarded a LifeGuard Air Ambulance for an emergency flight from Vinton to UnityPoint Health - St. Luke's. Critically ill with RSV, tiny Belle would spend two terrifying weeks fighting for her life.

"We were greeted with a team of doctors and nurses who thoroughly examined Belle," recall her parents, Nate and Leah Edwards. Because Belle's left lung collapsed, she had to be placed on a ventilator. Belle also developed a rare complication that was causing her to retain water. Leah and Nate said St. Luke's Neonatologist Dr. Andrew Nordine explained Belle's condition and discussed their options for her care.

"He let us know he had consulted with doctors at the University of Iowa, who offered to transfer Belle there. But we felt so confident in the care she was receiving at St. Luke's, we declined the transfer. In the days that followed, we were constantly encouraged by every single person who entered Belle's room. They made us feel she was their top priority and they were going to do whatever it took to make Belle and us more comfortable as she was recovering."

Nate and Leah add, "To this day our sons talk about Nurse Jim who brought them special toys when they visited their baby sister and made them feel cared for, too!"

With Belle safely home, her parents decided to honor the exceptional caregivers who saved her life. Their donation to St. Luke's Guardian Angel program recognized team members from LifeGuard Air Ambulance, St. Luke's Pediatric Unit and Respiratory Care.

"They saved our daughter's life, brought light to our darkest days, and made an impact on us we will be sharing for the rest of our lives," explain Leah and Nate. "We wanted to say thank you for comforting two terrified parents. And thank you for using your skills and talents to save Belle."

Want to express your appreciation to the caregivers who made a difference for you or a loved one? Guardian Angel gifts can be of any size, and a ceremony honors those who go above and beyond for you. For more information, call the St. Luke's Foundation at (319) 369-7716.

SPIRIT FUND OFFERS help and hope

A cancer diagnosis is overwhelming. Battling cancer can zap an individual's physical, emotional and financial resources.

Fortunately, at Helen G. Nassif Community Cancer Center, no one has to fight cancer alone. A partnership of UnityPoint Health - St. Luke's Hospital and Physicians' Clinic of Iowa, in collaboration with community-based specialty providers, Nassif Community Cancer Center supports patients and their family members from diagnosis through survivorship.

For patients facing economic challenges, Nassif Community Cancer Center's Spirit Patient Assistance Fund offers vital financial help. Since 2014 with donations from community members, local partners and patient families, the Spirit Fund has helped almost 600 cancer patients by providing more than $265,000 in financial support.

To qualify, patients must have a household income at or below 250 percent of poverty to receive up to $500 assistance annually. Spirit Fund dollars have paid for medical and supportive supplies such as lymphedema treatments and ostomy supplies that are not covered by insurance. Gas cards helped patients travel back and forth for their daily or weekly cancer treatments. Spirit Fund dollars have also put food on patients' dinner tables and kept their utilities on.

"It's an unbelievable feeling I have survived pancreatic cancer for over 27 months," says one survivor. "It hasn't been easy, but with the support of my wife, doctors and nurses, it gives me power to fight and not give up. Nassif Community Cancer Center provided our family with financial, emotional and physical support. We are forever grateful."

You can help ease the burden for cancer patients and their families when you support Nassif Community Cancer Center's Spirit Patient Assistance Fund. Donate at communitycancercenter.org/donate or call (319) 369-8100 for more information.

recognizing COMPASSIONATE CARE AND EXEMPLARY SERVICE

The Allsop family is grateful for the wonderful healthcare they've received from St. Luke's Hospital. Over the years, the Allsops, led by longtime Cedar Rapids residents Robert and Beth, have given back generously as supporters of St. Luke's Foundation and members of the Koehler Legacy Society.

After Bob's passing in 2022, Beth Allsop, her son Steve and his wife, Mary Beth, wanted to create something special to honor the outstanding caregivers at St. Luke's. The family worked with the Foundation to create two new awards that recognize individuals who embody the characteristics of compassionate care and who help create the healing environment at St. Luke's.

The Steve and Mary Beth Allsop Compassionate Care Award honors a frontline clinical healthcare worker who demonstrates exemplary compassion in their caregiving skills. Kyle Kuehler, social worker on the 3 East child and adolescent behavioral health unit, became the first recipient of this annual award in December 2023. Kyle's peers call him the "3 East lighthouse"—a calm and reliable leader who serves as an amazing voice and advocate for the children and families they serve.

The Allsop Family Exemplary Service Award recognizes a non-clinical hospital service provider who goes the extra mile in the execution of his or her duties. The inaugural award was presented to Karla Woodman, patient care technician on the Cardiology and 4 West Telemetry unit. Karla is known for treating every patient like family and consistently going above and beyond. Her positive energy, hard work and kindness influence others.

Both awards come with a cash bonus. Individuals are nominated by their managers and the recipients' names will be permanently displayed on a plaque next to the St. Luke's cafeteria.

a legacy of giving

THE CARL & MARY KOEHLER LEGACY SOCIETY AND ST. LUKE'S FOUNDATION FOUNDER'S AWARD

When a homeless man died of injuries in 1881 because there was no medical care in Cedar Rapids, the Rev. Samuel Ringgold made an impassioned plea for "a real hospital, so that citizens and strangers alike can be cared for." One person after another stepped forward, embracing generosity as a way of life, and St. Luke's Hospital was born.

Today, St. Luke's Foundation continues to honor the spirit of giving that helps us improve the health of the people and communities we serve.

The Carl & Mary Koehler Legacy Society, established in 2003, recognizes individuals who have remembered St. Luke's Foundation with an estate or other planned gifts arranged during their lifetime. In 2023, we were proud to welcome these estate gifts and new Koehler Society members for their legacy of generosity and caring:
