Dear Friends,

At UnityPoint Health – Finley Hospital, our mission and vision guide us to make a difference to every person who walks through the doors of our hospital and clinics.

In 2021, chances are you, your family, or neighbors from across the Tri-State area were among those we had the privilege of serving and if so, we are grateful you selected Finley Hospital as your medical home.

In our Annual Impact Report, we are excited to share with you stories that spotlight our donors, volunteers, and campaigns that have assisted in shaping Finley Hospital’s delivery of health care for today and tomorrow.

Philanthropy impacts those we serve and this past year we were able, with your generous support, to establish a Spiritual Care Endowment, provide additional protective equipment for our team members in the battle against COVID-19, and upgrade anti-ligature needs and security in Finley Hospital’s Behavioral Health Unit.

Additionally, we replaced bassinets in the Family Birthing Suites, provided equipment upgrades in the Cardiac Rehabilitation Center, assisted the Kehl Diabetes Center in expanding their educational reach and program services, and provided funding for services and programs to meet the health care needs of those most vulnerable within our community through the work of the Dubuque Visiting Nurse Association.

Your gifts impact many lives.

Please know the Finley Health Foundation is appreciative of your support. Your generosity and future legacy are what continues to make Finley Hospital a great community hospital. With your support, we will continue to deliver upon our mission and vision, and for that we are thankful.

Tauseef Khan, MD

Nearly 10 years ago, UnityPoint Health – Finley Hospital opened the doors to their Heart Catheterization Lab, a facility used for assessing patient heart health and performing life-saving treatment. Having a Cath Lab on-site at Finley Hospital prevents unnecessary patient transfers and enables the heart care team to provide effective care quickly. Over the past 10 years, the experienced heart care team has performed more than 12,500 procedures in the Cath Lab.

"Ten years has been a team effort that we have been able to build and sustain this program," said Dr. Tauseef Khan, Medical Director of Cardiovascular Services at Finley Hospital. "Taking care of my patients, I’ve learned the value of persistence and resilience. Every single patient, every single time is the focus of our attention."

The Cath Lab was a welcomed addition to Finley Hospital and UnityPoint Clinic Cardiology’s suite of heart care services, which range from prevention, emergency care, inpatient and outpatient services, and cardiac rehabilitation – all in one location.

To learn more about heart care, and to hear from our staff and patients as we commemorate the 10 year anniversary of the Cath Lab, visit: unitypoint.org/heartcare.
Brain Health can impact the lives of patients and their families in many ways. At UnityPoint Health – Finley Hospital, we know that providing care to address a patient’s physical health alongside their brain health contributes to improved outcomes.

Finley Hospital’s 9-bed inpatient Behavioral Health Unit serves Tri-State residents over the age of 55 who are diagnosed with Dementia, Depression with Suicidal Attempts, Anxiety, Bipolar Disorder, Schizophrenia, PTSD, Psychosis and other brain health conditions.

An unfortunate reality, suicide completions and attempts have been on the rise nationwide, and statistically, the highest demographic age that completes suicide successfully is the geriatric adult. Because of this reality, hospitals are required to have anti-ligature risk equipment, fixtures, and furniture in place to ensure a patient’s safety to themselves, as well as others.

On Finley Hospital’s Behavioral Health Unit, most of the anti-ligature hardware, equipment, and smaller fixtures have been updated, but the time had come to update bathroom fixtures, tables, and chairs.

In 2021, the Finley Health Foundation turned to community partners to improve the environment for its Behavioral Health Unit patients. With the support of Dubuque Racing Association (DRA), Schoen Family Charitable Trust, Theisen’s More for Your Community, and an anonymous donor, the unit enclosed its nursing station, updated its bathrooms with ligature-resistant plumbing fixtures, and purchased heavier, ligature-resistant furniture for the inpatient rooms and community space.

These improvements safeguard the patient in distress and protects other patients, providers, nurses and team members during a stressful situation.

“Overall, the project has improved the environment of care,” said Angela Hoffmann, Director and Nurse Manager for Behavioral Health. “We can continue to provide excellent physical and brain health care for the community in an environment that doesn’t work against us.”

An inpatient stay on the Behavioral Health Unit can range from two days to several weeks. Psychiatry providers treat patients daily, monitoring brain health and prescription changes. Physicians visit patients throughout their stay to monitor their physical health and vital signs. Physical, occupational, and speech therapists work with patients on their strength, balance, and endurance, as well as bathing, dressing, and walking. The unit provides arts, crafts, music therapy, games, education, and spiritual care to help the patient heal.

The program provides other specialized therapies as needed, depending on the patient. Some patients need help with communication (speech therapy), cognition (they may have confusion due to stroke, brain injury or short-term memory issues), problem solving issues, safety issues, impulsivity, and eating or swallowing.

Having a well-equipped inpatient unit provides a safe haven and caring environment for family members to trust their loved ones to during a time of distress.
Supporting the Spiritual Element of Wellness —

The 2021 Miracles on the Mississippi Gala was a huge success because of generous donors, like you, who passionately support your community hospital, UnityPoint Health - Finley Hospital. Last year’s gala featured delicious hors d’oeuvres, unique live auction packages, and guitar sensation Don Felder, formerly of The Eagles. In addition to recordbreaking attendance, what made the 2021 Gala even more extraordinary was the endowment your support created.

Created through your support of the Gala and additional community support, the Spiritual Care Endowment will ensure Finley Hospital’s Chaplain has the resources to address our patient’s physical, emotional, and spiritual needs, as part of the delivery of compassionate care. Finley’s chaplain also supports our team members as they navigate workplace-related stress, which was especially critical throughout the COVID-19 pandemic.

Dedicated chaplains influence better decisions about care, improve clinical outcomes, and enhance staff morale. The trust they establish with patients transfers to other members of the care team, leading to better care, communications, and outcomes.

The Spiritual Care Endowment is a commitment not only to ensure there will always be chaplains to provide care, but to also provide financial resources for new learning opportunities to renew and strengthen the skills and knowledge of our caregivers.

Endowments are unique and serve as a way for donors to show their support and dedication to an organization today, tomorrow and forever. Endowments are permanently invested donations that allow an organization to use a percentage of the gift annually to support the programs and services our donors are passionate about; leaving a legacy that not only makes an impact today, but also provides growth for Finley in the future.

If you wish to support the Spiritual Care Endowment, log on to unitypoint.org/dbqgive.

The 20th Anniversary Gala in 2021 netted more than $97,000 to establish the Spiritual Care Endowment at UnityPoint Health – Finley Health Foundation. Thank you for your generosity!

SAVING THE DATE!

The 2022 Miracles on the Mississippi Gala will be held on Saturday, August 6 at the Diamond Jo Casino. Entertainment for this year's event will be announced at a later date.
Born in Bellevue and a resident of Dubuque, Jason Knockel, along with his wife, Tina, have always been connected to the local community. With their roots planted in Dubuque, Tina as a middle school teacher in the Dubuque Community School District and Jason as CEO of Kunkel & Associates, they both wanted to use their passion for community to give back. One way Jason did that was by joining UnityPoint Health – Finley Health Foundation as a board member in 2014.

“The Foundation board consists of so many forward-thinking people in so many different areas of our community,” Jason said. “I was personally attracted to what other board members had done within their own companies and with the foundation. I also wanted to continue the legacy of Tim Kunkel and be an example to my team at Kunkel & Associates about why supporting our community hospital is so important.”

Tim Kunkel founded Kunkel & Associates and passed away in 2013, while serving as a member of the Finley Hospital Board of Directors. During his time with the Finley Health Foundation board, Jason served as a co-chair for the 2017 Miracles on the Mississippi Gala, one of the group’s annual fundraising events.

“It’s been really neat to see the effect of the gala and where we’ve taken it over the years,” Jason said. “Seeing the community’s positive support has been really special. Support for the gala comes in so many ways from people donating items for the auction to family, friends, and business colleagues attending the event. It truly is a great time, and we raise important dollars for the hospital.”

The gala is a wonderful opportunity to watch Jason in his element,” Tina added. “Supporting the community and the hospital is important and something we will continue for many years.”

A project that was impacted by the Miracles on the Mississippi Gala was the UnityPoint Health Pediatric Therapy Center – one of Jason’s favorite projects completed during his time as a board member. It was touching for Jason to realize the difference the Pediatric Therapy Center was having on parents and children in the community.

“Once I got out there and saw parents and their kids, especially the kids smiling, it was amazing.” Jason said. “It was special to see that project from start to finish and the impact it had on patients. The Finley team’s passion for this type of work was magnified by the facility. Not only do I see kids smiling when I go there, but I also see the staff smiling.”

Reflecting on his nine years of service to the Finley Health Foundation, Jason knows the group is a special board looking to make a difference within Finley Hospital and the Dubuque VNA.

Sometimes, it’s the small things that can have a big impact.”

“The Foundation helps with capital improvement projects like the Grandview Expansion and Pediatric Therapy Center,” Jason said. “But they are also a resource for hospital departments in need of a new piece of equipment or items that will make a difference for patients. This keeps the team at Finley Hospital energized, while they truly do have the best interest of all patients in mind. Executing those little things to help our care teams has been great to see.”

Jason has also joined the Finley Hospital board, giving him an even more unique perspective of the health care industry. He shares his passion for health care with his daughter, Anna, who has wanted to pursue a career in health care since a young age.

“Ever since Anna was a little girl, she has always expressed an interest in health care,” Jason said. “So, it’s been great having conversations with her from my experience on the hospital and foundation boards and with what’s happening in the health care industry today. The need for good doctors and nurses has been heightened from the pandemic, and I’m hoping that my experience supporting Finley encourages Anna to continue considering a career in health care.”

Jason and Tina have four children, Taylor, Mitchell, Kaiden, and Anna, and two granddaughters, Charlotte and Evelyn, who were both born at Finley Hospital, a place that has had a significant impact on Jason through his hospital and foundation board involvements.

“As a member of both boards, I go out and try to help Finley Hospital and the community,” Jason said. “I think Finley has given me back as much as I have given to Finley with all I’ve learned and the friendships I’ve made. It’s been rewarding to see everyone come together for a great cause.”

A Friend of Finley Jason Knockel Reflects on Time with Finley Health Foundation

“Sometimes, it’s the small things that can have a big impact.”
In 2012, the Finley Health Foundation began what would become an annual event for the community with the creation of the Miracles on the Mississippi Gala. The concept of the Gala grew out of the need to support the formation of cardiology services at UnityPoint Health – Finley Hospital. The Gala launched a program that would see the hospital’s Cardiology service line grow to completely occupy the third floor of Finley Hospital’s newest addition and meet the patient’s entire needs under one roof.

Just ask Mike Kieffer, a 62-year-old Dubuque resident who is a regular golfer, avid hunter, and frequent gym-goer. One morning in late November, Mike was about to leave for a CrossFit workout when he noticed pain across his chest, numbness down his left arm and pain in his left shoulder blade.

“I was getting ready to go to the gym when I started having symptoms that I knew were heart-related,” he said. “I have a family history of heart disease with my mom and dad, so I’m very aware of the symptoms.”

His wife, Melody Bandy Haugen, drove him to UnityPoint Health – Finley Hospital’s Emergency Department. The ED staff concluded he was suffering from a moderate heart attack.

In the cardiac cath lab, Dr. Timothy Martin, of UnityPoint Clinic Cardiology, placed three stents to open blockages in two arteries. As part of Mike’s follow-up care, he was enrolled in the Cardiac Rehabilitation program at Finley Hospital. Cardiac rehabilitation acts as a stepping stone for a patient after a heart attack. It provides an opportunity to form positive habits, increase aerobic fitness, and make sure treatments are effective.

“A lot of times after a heart attack, people get started on all new medications. We are like a check-in three times a week,” said Jolene Stackis, RN, BSN, CCRP, lead nurse in Cardiopulmonary Rehab at Finley Hospital. “We check blood pressures to see if the new blood pressure medication is working. We answer questions and monitor if they are improving in how they feel. We get everybody from open heart people to a stent, to massive heart attacks.”

The three-month program is individualized to a patient’s wants, needs, and abilities. Mike’s goal was to get back to the quality of life he had before the heart attack. With his younger age and solid base of fitness, Mike completed the program in five weeks.

The program also educates participants about risk factors including diabetes, smoking, and diet.

“To move forward, it’s important to learn how to eliminate as many of the other risk factors as you can, Mike said. Obviously, I can’t eliminate family history, but I learned a lot about nutrition, which was probably a big gap in what I was doing before.”

Six weeks post-heart attack, Mike was back in the CrossFit gym. He credits cardiac rehab for giving him the confidence to get back to his heart-pumping workouts.

Mike’s stamina on the treadmill, based on incline and speed measures, increased 110% over five weeks. The national average is 40%, a benchmark that Finley Hospital’s Cardiac and Pulmonary Rehab Department routinely exceeds. “It’s highly recommended that people participate in cardiac rehab,” Stackis said. “It’s under-utilized nationwide. It is shown to decrease re-hospitalizations and deaths. A lot of people think cardiac rehab is you just go exercise, but there’s a lot more to it than just that.”

Cardiac Rehabilitation is part of Finley Hospital’s suite of heart care services. Since Finley Hospital’s Heart and Vascular Center opened, the Finley Health Foundation has provided continued support for heart care in a variety of ways from equipment upgrades to patient assistance.

For many years, Phil and Judy Ruppel have been embedded in the Dubuque community. From involvements with UnityPoint Health – Finley Hospital, First Congregational United Church, Dubuque Chamber of Commerce, Community Foundation of Greater Dubuque, Rotary, Dubuque Dream Center and other organizations - Phil and Judy know about giving back. Phil is the former President of Parco, Ltd., a company which owns Wendy’s restaurants in Iowa, Illinois, and Minnesota. Now, the company has transitioned and is owned by their son, Jeff Ruppel and daughter, Tami Ryan.

One organization the Ruppels know they want to support is Finley Hospital, where Phil served as the Chairman of the Board, and Judy is a former Sunshine Circle member and President.

“The friendliness, quality of care, and leadership have made Finley Hospital an outstanding organization,” Phil said. “The fact that it’s a community hospital is what I think makes it special. During my time on the hospital board, I truly saw the value of what Finley Hospital was to Dubuque.”

Phil believes in the work of Finley Hospital and knows it has a significant impact on the Dubuque community. “We see the importance of Finley Hospital to the Dubuque and the Tri-State area,” Phil said. “With that idea, it prompted our opportunity to support the hospital with a future gift and commitment.”

In addition to supporting Finley Hospital annually, they chose to become Legacy Society members. Phil and Judy met with Eddie Thompson of Thompson & Associates to discuss their opportunities for charitable giving. During their discussion with Eddie, they found out how easy it was to create a structure for their planned giving.

“I would encourage anyone interested in giving to the Finley Health Foundation to consider discussing charitable estate planning with Eddie Thompson,” Phil said. “It truly helped us understand how we could support Finley Hospital.”

It was determined that Phil and Judy were able to give in a way that positioned them as members of the Finley Health Foundation’s Legacy Society. Established in 2006, the Legacy Society is a recognition society honoring generous benefactors who have remembered Finley Hospital in their wills, trusts, or other estate plans. Donors who choose to support Finley Hospital in this way help the organization continue its vision for years to come, impacting future generations of Dubuque residents.

Phil encourages the community to consider giving back to causes that people are passionate about. One thing is for certain - it’s not the amount that matters, instead, it’s about making a positive difference in the community.

“It’s important to realize just how easy it can be to offer that support of giving back to various causes in our own community,” Phil said. “Find it in your heart to be generous in any way you can, as it has the power to make a big difference.”

Due to their committed involvements and unwavering support of Finley Hospital and the Finley Health Foundation, Phil and Judy are part of a special group of supporters and have been since the late 1980s. “I feel that we truly are part of the Finley family,” Judy said.

To learn more about charitable estate planning or becoming a member of the Legacy Society, contact Kara Murphy, Director of Development, at (563) 589-2485 or visit unitypoint.org/Dubuque.
